Let's show you what's happening inside...

Our state-of-the-art video otoscope system can show inside your ear canal right up to your ear drum, all visible on the colour screen.

See inside your ear like never before, with no discomfort whatsoever!

Video otoscopy allows us to clearly visualise the ear canal and ear drum by projecting an image onto a computer monitor.

Using video otoscopy, we can see first hand any conditions such as the presence or build up of wax, or debris in the canal that may cause problems with your hearing.

Give your ears a clean bill of health!

Video otoscopy ultimately provides both patients and audiologists with a greater understanding and appreciation of what is happening inside your ear.

Unblock the problem with our FREE Wax Removal Clinic

It's not the most pleasant topics to talk about, but removing ear wax can help you hear better.

Earwax is a natural substance that keeps the inner parts of your ear free from dirt and debris. But excess levels of earwax can be unsightly, cause discomfort and affect your hearing. If you think you are suffering from a build up of earwax, come and see us at the Better Hearing Clinic Event and take advantage of our FREE Wax Removal Clinic with our trained Specialist Nurse Julie Murray.

She will check your ear canal for signs of excess wax using the Video Otoscope system shown above.

If there is a higher than normal level of wax Nurse Murray will remove the wax straight away. The state-of-the-art equipment used is a ClearSound technique that requires no harsh syringing but removes any blockage with a specially designed pulse machine or a gentle wash with warm water.

Julie says, "The Better Hearing Clinic Event is the perfect opportunity to give your ears a complete health check and it may be something as simple as earwax that is causing your hearing problems."

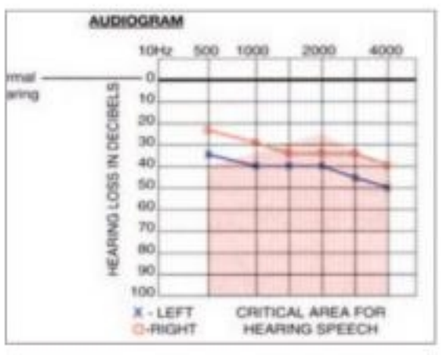
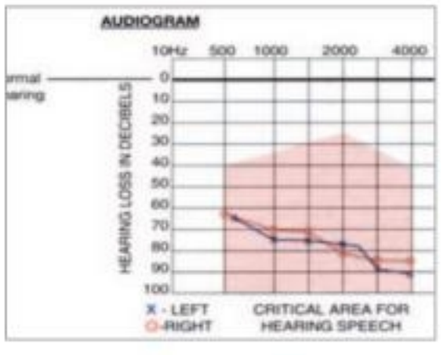
We often find it is a great help when testing your hearing to have a familiar voice with you. Part of our full hearing assessment is to present speech in what is called a Speech Clarity Test. A family member or close friend is ideal and they are free to help you with the hearing test as well as ask questions which you may not have thought of yourself.





Your Questions Answered...

Anything you are unsure of, simply ask our fully qualified Hearing Aid Audiologists

Q. How will wearing a hearing aid affect my hearing in the future?

A. Tests have actually shown that those people who wear their hearing aid regularly, strain less to hear and reduce the rate of further deterioration compared to people who need a hearing aid and do not wear it!

Q. My wife says the TV is too loud for her. I feel my hearing is OK so would a test be a waste of time?

A. No! It is never a waste of time. Our dispenser will always give you the best advice and will be happy to confirm if you have no hearing loss! Your test is completely without obligation and there is no pressure to have a hearing aid, just honest and sound advice.

Q. My friend has a NHS hearing aid which looks big and uncomfortable. If I needed a hearing aid, would it be the same size?

A. We can offer a whole range of small and discreet in-the-ear solutions and you will be advised on the best hearing solution for your hearing loss. As we are independent of any hearing aid manufacturer we can offer a wide selection of hearing aids and styles from small virtually invisible aids to power aids for more of a severe hearing loss.

Q. Do I have to pay for tests and service in the future?

A. No, our aftercare is free for life and there will never be a charge for re-testing, servicing or even home visits.

Terror link forces a change of name

ISIS resourcing

TWO Abingdon business owners have been forced to rebrand their recruitment company because of the association of its name with so-called Islamic State.

Kate Faulkner and Vanessa Case, who set up Isis Resourcing in 2010, made the decision after finding it increasingly difficult to trade under the title in recent years - they have rebranded their firm as Shine Appointments.

They are one of several similarly-named county firms and organisations to make the same decision.

By Dominic Thomas

Ms Faulkner, who runs the recruitment company, said: "People were looking at jobs and not using us to apply for them because they were very cautious of the problem with our name.

"We thought about it for a while and were trying to desperately cling on to it but had to accept it in the end."

As the jihadist group grew in notoriety, the duo found it more difficult to keep trading with the name, most noticeably following the Paris attacks.

Ms Faulkner said: "Sometimes when we'd phone people up, they would ask us to repeat our name as if to say 'Did they really just say that?'

"One client made the mistake of typing 'recruitment' rather than 'resourcing' into Google and was faced with the most horrific images.

"We decided that we needed to act immediately in order to change the association with the name."

The pair, who suspect they were having their emails blocked under their old name, have received a positive response since the change.

"We've had a very positive response from friends who've said they really like our new name and we've started having a lot more people using us for the same jobs," said Ms Faulkner.

The name Isis originates from the stretch of the Thames that runs through Oxford above Iffley Lock.

It also has associations with the Egyptian goddess of the same name, which appealed to the two working mums when they set up their business.

Another organisation affected was the Oxford special needs school Iffley Academy, which was formerly known as the Isis Academy. It took the decision to change its name in December.

A school statement said: "The decision was taken after careful consideration about protecting the reputation, integrity and image of the Academy following the unforeseen rise of ISIS and related global media coverage of the activities of the terrorist group.

"The [name's] positive connotations have now been overwhelmed by negative associations, and our priority is to remove the detrimental impact which the name 'Isis' had on pupils, their families and our staff."

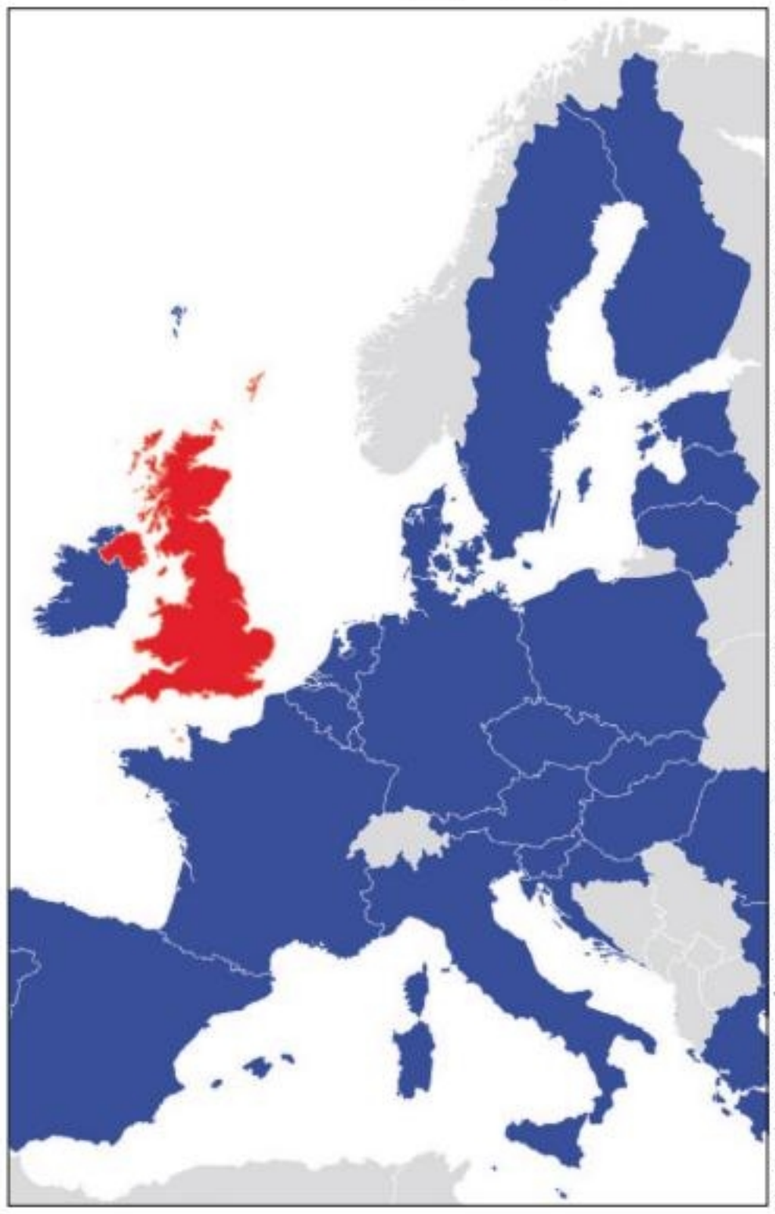
Oxfordshire alone in support for EU



OXFORDSHIRE was the only English county to vote in favour of Remain on Thursday night, as the United Kingdom voted itself out of the European Union.

Following the announcement that the Leave vote had won, Prime Minister David Cameron, who had lead the Remain campaign, announced that he would be stepping down.

Questions have now been raised as to whether the Conservative leader will remain as MP for his Witney constituency.

Speaking the on the morning of the results, Mr Cameron said: "I held nothing back, I was absolutely clear about my belief that Britain is stronger, safer and better off inside the European Union.

"But the British people have made a very clear decision to take a different path and as such I think the country requires fresh leadership to take it in this direction."

He will remain in power until the Conservative party elect a new leader by September this year.

His constituency of West Oxfordshire was loyal to their MP in voting in favour of remain, along with three of the other Oxfordshire districts. Cherwell was the only district to vote leave.

By Dominic Thomas

Oxfordshire's 378,608 votes, which amounted to 56.7 per cent remain and 43.2 per cent leave, represented a 77.5 per cent turnout for the county.

EU control was narrowly rejected in Cherwell, where Brexit campaigners celebrated a 50.3 per cent win. However, there were convincing wins for Remain in Oxford (70.3 per cent) and Vale of White Horse (56.7 per cent). Remain also won in West Oxfordshire (53.6 per cent) and South Oxfordshire (54.9 per cent).

Police escorted Oxford City councillor Mike Rowley from the the city's Town Hall count after clashing with security.

Oxfordshire bucked the national trend by voting remain, with more people in the county (77.5 per cent) heading to the polls to vote compared to the national average (72 per cent).

A statement from Oxfordshire County Council leader Ian Hudspeth, said: "That process must not stop at the gates of Parliament. This is an opportunity to remake our democratic system, and must be used to drive, not delay, the process of devolving power from Westminster and Whitehall to England's cities and counties, and from those cities and counties to the towns, villages, and neighbourhoods within them.

"As we go through a period of both uncertainty and opportunity, it will be more important than ever for local partners in the public sector and beyond to work collaboratively and creatively to ensure Oxfordshire has good public services fit for the future."

Districts back Remain as UK votes to leave EU

By Dominic Thomas

VOTERS in the Vale of White Horse and South Oxfordshire backed the Remain campaign on Thursday as nationwide Britain voted to leave the EU.

They were joined by their counterparts in Oxford City, who voted resoundingly in favour of Remain along with West Oxfordshire, with Cherwell being the only Oxfordshire council to reflect the national result in voting Leave.

With turnouts of 81.2 per cent for Vale and 80.8 per cent for South Oxfordshire, the turnout was higher than that of 2015 election figures of 72.8 per cent and 70.3 per cent respectively.

After polling stations closed at 10pm, counting began at the Vale of White Horse Leisure and Tennis Centre in Abingdon until 4am, when the results from the Vale were announced, followed half an hour later by South Oxfordshire.

Vale council leader Matthew Barber, who was representing the Vote Leave campaign, told the Guardian at the time of the announcement: "I think from the Leave point of view the Vale results are closer than expected.

"We were expecting a Remain vote with the demographic we have here but it's very encouraging that it was so close. It's very different from what we expected at 10pm."

Meanwhile, Remain campaigner Will Atkinson, 62, of Culham, said: "It's a good result for Vale and South Oxfordshire. Remain have won here so it's nice to see people here are showing good sense! Most areas having been quite receptive during the campaign but it's been hard with all the media coverage being against us.

"The turnout has been great – it's a long time since I've been to a polling station and had to queue to get into the car park."

The final figures for Vale were 57 per cent in favour of remain, with 43 per cent leave, while South Oxfordshire voted 55 per cent remain and 45 per cent leave, while 0.06 per cent of the two council areas votes saw spoiled ballot papers.

Didcot resident Jon Hawkins, of Lydalls Road, who spent the last two weeks campaigning for people to spoil their ballot papers, said: "I'm absolutely pleased I did it because I can live with my conscience clear now.

"While I didn't think I really convinced anyone to do it, a lot of people agreed with me and saw faults on both sides.

"Unfortunately most people seem to think of spoiling the ballot paper as undemocratic, so I'd have preferred it if there was another option on the ballot to abstain."

Of the result, he said: "I think we've picked the 'least worst' option, democratically it would have been a shame to remain but it's a big risk to leave the EU, and I think we're going to suffer a lot of pain."

Henley MP John Howell said: "Whilst I am disappointed in the overall result, I'm very pleased to see that South Oxfordshire overwhelmingly voted to remain."

On Prime Minister David Cameron's decision to stand down, Dr Howell said: "He is an honourable man who is doing what he thinks is the right thing to do.

"He has already said that he was going to leave office before the next General Election, he clearly now feels it is time to leave sooner."

Oxford West and Abingdon MP Nicola Blackwod said: "Brexit isn't the path I would have chosen, or that Oxfordshire voted for, but we must accept Britain has spoken and I have confidence we will rise to the challenge. We must.

"I was very sad to watch the Prime Minister announce that he will step down. He is a true statesman and we will miss him."

Paul Pemberton, 42, of Oxford, in favour of Remain

"To make trade deals we are going to need to accept the free movement of people anyway. I think a lot of people voted leave to stop immigration and will be disappointed when they find they can't get that. I think its fantastic that people are engaging with politics."

June Roman, 68, of Henley, in favour of Leave

"I'm very pleased because I think staying in the EU is bad thing for the country. There's been too much focus on immigration and I can see why, but I think we do need to have discussions about how we can control the numbers of people we have coming into the country. My main issue would be how much control we have over running our country."

With world supplies running out, the joint find with Durham University is a "game-changer", say geologists at the universities.

Helium is used in hospitals in MRI scanners as well as in spacecraft, telescopes and radiation monitors.

Until now the gas has been discovered only in small quantities during oil and gas drilling. The university research teams, who worked with Norway-based helium exploration company Helium One, developed a new exploration approach. Using it, they found large quantities of helium within the Tanzanian East African Rift Valley.

They say resources in just one part of the Rift valley are enough to fill more than a million medical MRI scanners.

Professor Chris Ballentine, of the Department of Earth Sciences at Oxford, said: "This is a game-changer for the future security of society's helium needs and similar finds in the future may not be far away."

Colleague Dr Pete Barry said the technique could be used in other parts of the world with similar geology.

Hundreds turn up to air EU support

By George Welch

HUNDREDS of pro-EU supporters turned out despite heavy rain to show solidarity after the UK's referendum decision to leave it.

Despite the event officially being 'cancelled' due to crowd concerns, about 300 Remainers demonstrated in Broad Street, Oxford, on Tuesday.

The activists waved EU flags, displayed homemade placards and chanted "Oxford Stays".

The turnout was despite the event being officially cancelled because it got too big to manage after more than 1,000 people responded on the Facebook event page.

Event organiser and Marston resident Tessa Clayton, 36, said: "It's a strange time – it's a time of crisis. But it's fantastic that everyone has come out despite the rain and despite the event officially being cancelled – people just want to show their solidarity, it's fantastic".

The mother-of-two added: "It's an opportunity for people to come together to say clearly that we still stand with Europe".

Planned rallies in Manchester and London were also officially cancelled after similar concerns about numbers. But Liverpool, Cambridge, Cardiff and Bristol went ahead with their demonstrations.

At the Oxford protest, Robin Malloy, a 26-year-old engineering student at Oxford University, said: "My best friend is from Greece and my girlfriend is from Hungary.

"They have been in England for years, they contribute a huge amount and they are suddenly getting hatred from people".

He added: "We're screwed – all of the good years over the last 20 years are based on the EU.

"We need Europe for the university, we need it for jobs in the economy and we need it to work together. We're going to have a massive brain drain – even if Europeans aren't kicked out, a lot are scared to come."

Oxfordshire was the only pro-EU county in England, with 57 per cent of voters determined to stay within the union Britain has been a member of since 1973, when Ted Heath was Prime Minister.

Oxford had one of the highest Remain results across the UK, with 70 per cent of voters voting to stay.

Home criticised for its care of elderly woman

By George Welch

A HENLEY care home and Oxfordshire County Council have been criticised for the handling of the death of an elderly woman with advanced dementia.

In the first of its kind, the Local Government Ombudsman (LGO) published a report on the behaviour of a private care provider and a council's subsequent review into the quality of care.

The woman, who has not been named, was on a week-long respite stay at the Huntercombe Hall Care Home in Henley, owned by Caring Homes Healthcare Group Ltd.

She died in May 2014 and the investigation was prompted by a complaint from her husband who said his wife had been left severely dehydrated and suffering from oral thrush.

The home responded to the complaint but found no shortfalls in its treatment. But the LGO's investigation supported the complaint about the quality of care and found issues with the way the home had completed records about her care.

It also found that the council did not act in accordance with the law and relevant government guidance. The council launched its own inquiry, but failed to involve the husband.

The council has apologised to the woman's husband and has been asked by the LGO to pay him £750 compensation.

A Huntercombe spokesperson said: "We are deeply disappointed by this report, and apologise unreservedly to the family for falling short in this instance of the high standards we set ourselves, and that residents rightly deserve."

The spokesperson said when concerns were first raised the home worked closely with the council to address them. Measures had been taken to strengthen monitoring and record-keeping. An apology would also be sent to the family.

LGO Dr Jane Martin said: "I hope my investigation will give this woman's family some reassurance that lessons have been learnt and other vulnerable adults will not have the same experience."

Residents urged to air views

PUBLIC consultations on how Oxfordshire's NHS can save money have begun following the revelation it needs to save £180m.

The chairman of the county's Clinical Commissioning Group said last week that the local Oxfordshire NHS needed to become more efficient by 2020 in response to rising demand.

Dr Joe McManners said: "If we keep on spending the way we are and keep on admitting as many people to hospital, the system will not be sustainable."

The NHS in Oxfordshire is calling on residents to give their views on how healthcare is delivered. 'The Big Conversation' events are being held to encourage people to engage with NHS staff about how NHS services can be improved.

The events will focus on, among other things, how quality can be improved, how illness can be prevented and how the overall health of people in Oxfordshire can be improved.

Damon Palmer, transformation programme director, said: "We really want the public to be partners with us in this process.

"We want parents, teenagers, patients, carers and people who work in the county to tell us their views about how we can improve NHS services in Oxfordshire.

"We cannot afford to continue providing services in the way we have done in the past."

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 25 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Oxfordshire area from their local depots and manager James Miller agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Councillors set to decide plan for 241 extra village homes

A PLAN for a major housing development in Benson was being debated last night as the Guardian went to press.

The outline application for 241 homes in Littleworth Road was going before South Oxfordshire District Council's planning committee.

The application submitted by RJ & S Styles also includes a public open space, landscaping, sports provision, nature park and woodland, up to 230 sqm retail, provision of community facilities including relocated school playing fields a youth hut, skate park and play space.

Councillors had earlier deferred a decision on the plan in order to hold a site visit, which took place on Monday.

Benson Parish Council said there was insufficient infrastructure to cope with the extra traffic and 29 residents also objected. Other concerns included the impact of the development on the character of the village.

The plan came after 159 homes on the same site were already approved, making it part of a 400-house scheme.

See the Oxfordshire Guardian website or next week's paper for an update.

Cycling festival proves a big hit with families

By Dominic Thomas

HUNDREDS of cyclists and families enjoyed Wallingford's Festival of Cycling on Sunday.

The event drew more than 500 cyclists and fun riders who whizzed around town streets specially closed for the day.

A full 12-hour day of races and rides took place around the town centre from 8am until the roads were reopened at 8pm.

Anna Badcock, South Oxfordshire's cabinet member for health and wellbeing, said: "It was a brilliant event with a fantastic atmosphere. It was great to see so many people cycling and showing the benefits of cycling.

• Cyclists race through the town's streets

"It's also important getting children used to being on their bikes and using them properly on roads and learning how to ride."

The festival also used the Kinecroft for children's rides and courses.

Town mayor Ros Lester, who attended the event, said: "It was brilliant, a fantastic atmosphere with the cow bells and whistling, and it was great to have the Kinecroft open for children's events as well this year."

Events ranged from 10 mile family rides around local countryside to a full 100km road ride through the Chilterns and back, as well as several road races which attracted cyclists from as far away as Isle of Man, Portsmouth and Peterborough.

"Some of the corners are at right angles and you'd hold your breath sometimes when you'd see the speed they came round them at but everybody made it round okay," said Cllr Lester.

There were also several exhibitions, including the chance to ride on a pennyfarthing and to take a ride in a lorry cab, demonstrating the visibility of cyclists to lorry drivers.

"That was quite scary actually. They placed six bikes on the route, and you couldn't see any of them, so it was very eye-opening and a bit terrifying," said Cllr Lester.

The exhibit was put on by the event sponsors Grundon Waste Management, which demonstrated the use of 360 degree cameras on its lorries.

Lee Thomas, of town bike shop Rides on Air, carried out safety checks on bikes.

He said: "It's just about bringing people out cycling. The family rides went off really well this year for example.

"There so many lovely areas and the nice thing is we don't have to be on the road at all cycling around here, you can go for miles whether it's along the river bank or the bridlepaths, its great."

Festival organiser Tony Sefton said: "It was nice that the town really embraced the festival because you couldn't hold an event like this in any town, so it was brilliant. It did everything we wanted it to do."

County growth targets spark campaign's fears

NEED not Greed campaigners are angered by 'inadequate' economic growth targets for Oxfordshire.

They are also concerned with the consultation that has taken place. They are campaigning for the reconsideration of the Strategic Economic Plan (SEP) in Oxfordshire.

The plan proposes 85,000 new jobs and 100,000 new homes over the next 15 years. But the Need not Greed Oxon coalition believes these targets to be "unrealistic and undeliverable and will have an adverse impact on our environment, local communities and services".

The SEP is being 'refreshed' by the Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership (OxLEP), a public body behind the promotion of economic growth.

And while the original plan was never consulted upon, a public consultation has just closed on the 'refreshed' SEP.

But Need not Greed is worried that the OxLEP report fails to address concerns expressed by the majority of respondents over the scale of planned growth for Oxfordshire.

By George Welch

They argue that OxLEP is an unaccountable, non-elected body aggressively driving growth and responsible for unrealistic and unachievable housing and job figures.

They also argue there was an unsatisfactory response from businesses.

Helena Whall, co-ordinator of Need not Greed Oxon coalition, said: "If the business community has not endorsed the SEP Refresh and the vast majority of public responses were critical of the forced economic growth strategy at the heart of the document, it begs the question on whose behalf is OxLEP pushing this economic nightmare for Oxfordshire?"

Nigel Tipple, chief executive of OxLEP, said: "We are confident that our refreshed SEP will support the growth of the county, its businesses and communities."

He said their focus was to ensure the economy continued to thrive and the future workforce had the skills needed to take up jobs.

Call for TruckFest volunteers

THE Oxfordshire Guardian's Charity of the Year, Blue Skye Thinking, is looking for volunteers to help on its food stand at next month's Truck Festival.

Volunteers will get free food and a three-day pass to the independent festival in Steventon, which includes a stellar line-up of bands such as Manic Street Preachers, Catfish and the Bottlemen and Kodaline.

Blue Skye Thinking was set up by Abingdon couple Sally and Andrew Hall in memory of their son Skye, who died in 2014 from side effects of cancer treatment for medulloblastoma, an aggressive cancerous brain tumour.

The charity launched its Aim Skye High Appeal this month to raise £50,000 to fund a post-doctoral research position at the Northern Institute for Cancer Research.

Mrs Hall, founder of Blue Skye Thinking, said: "This is a great opportunity for those who want to hear some of their favourite bands playing but all volunteers will need to work hard during their shifts, be well presented and polite to all.

"In the spirit of our appeal ethos to do something fun and wacky, we thought we would be alternative and take the food to the festival-goers rather than expect them to come to us. We have, therefore, decorated a golf buggy and Zoom the looming raccoon will be driving so should be easy to spot!"

To register your interest to be a volunteer, contact: sophie.payne@ymail.com and to support the appeal please visit http://campaign.justgiving.com/charity/blueskye-thinking/aimskyehigh, or text UPUP52 £3 to 70070

YOU'RE SAFER WITH WIN-DOR

Many customers and installers are unaware that when you have a new solid roof conservatory or if you have an existing conservatory roof replaced with a solid one Local Authority Building Control Regulations are required.

Concern aired over funding for county's biggest move to ease floods

CONCERN has been voiced about sourcing funding for Oxfordshire's biggest flood alleviation scheme.

Having already raised about £100million for the Oxford Flood Alleviation Scheme, there is still a £20m funding gap to be filled.

It is set to start in 2018.

In the wake of Thursday's EU referendum vote, city council leader Bob Price said the source of the remaining cash was private-sector funding, but "this is a time when the possibility of filling the gap becomes less strong".

But he was optimistic it would be found, saying the case for more public funding was strong.

His comments were dismissed as 'scaremongering' by deputy county council leader Rodney Rose.

Speaking at a public consultation into the plan on Tuesday, he said: "That actually shows us moving less material than we had planned to move anyway, which should bring the price down and help close that gap, and none of the money is European."

Northway and Marston flood schemes to start

By Dominic Thomas

A MAJOR flood prevention project is set to get under way on an Oxford estate in the coming months.

Plans for a £2.2 million flood alleviation scheme for homes in Northway and Marston have been submitted by Oxford City Council.

The Northway and Marston Flood Alleviation Scheme will reduce the risk of flooding to about 110 homes following regular incidents in the area.

Ward member for Marston, Councillor Mary Clarkson, said: "There have been problems over the last 20 years with sewage water at the bottom of Ferry Road area of Marston while Northway has had more problems with flash flooding and we hope the work there will solve those more immediate problems there.

"There is always a danger though that we focus too much on the big expensive schemes and forget that there is a lot of the more unglamorous regular maintenance like with our farmers that is just as important."

• Flooding at Stockleys Road in Northway in 2012

Edgeway Road resident and former city councillor Roy Darke, who lives next to Ferry Road where there has been frequent flooding, said: "It will hopefully take around 100 houses out of flood risk, hopefully forever.

"One of the side effects will be much better drainage at the Northway recreation ground and will hopefully diversify the wildlife around Court Place farm and make for a new recreation outlet for people in the area."

A plan for the work at Northway Community Field, Westland Drive, Saxon Way and Oxford Boxing Academy will be decided on July 6, while a decision on a second application for work at Court Place Farm Recreation Ground and Peasmoor Piece will be made on August 3.

If permission is granted, it is hoped the work will be completed in mid-2017. The council has secured £600,000 of funding from the Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership Growth Fund as well as £1.6 from the Environmental Agency to deliver the project.

Railway routes to be closed for flood prevention scheme work

• Pictures of the rail line in flood and afterwards

The line will be closed between July 30 and August 14 to raise the level of the track and construct a culvert.

Buses will replace trains between Oxford and Didcot Parkway and on the Oxford -to-Banbury line, which will close from July 30 to August 7.

The work due to be carried out on the railway is part of Network Rail's £17.5 million Hinskey Flood Alleviation project.

James Davis, of train operator Great Western Railway, said: "We have worked closely with Oxfordshire County Council and Network Rail to minimise disruption while this work takes place.

"The improvements being made will bring Brunel's railway into the 21st century, providing a more resilient infrastructure and paving the way for the new electric trains.

"These improvement works will allow passengers to take advantage of the full benefits of electrification once complete: new trains, faster, more frequent services and importantly, given the growth this network has seen in recent years, more seats."

THAME Food Festival has beaten two "enormous contributors to tourism and culture in Oxfordshire" to win an award.

The food festival was up against Belmond Le Manoir aux Quat'Saisons and Oxford Christmas Market for the Heart Cultural Events and Tourism Award.

And when Thame Food Festival was announced the winner for the second time, the festival's patron Lotte Duncan admitted she "lost the plot".

Ms Duncan said: "We honestly didn't think we'd win.

"Le Manoir and the Oxford Christmas Market are so amazing and enormous contributors to tourism and culture in Oxfordshire."

She added: "As we were sitting there waiting, I just sat back ready to congratulate one of them.

"Then Gareth James called our names and I'm embarrassed to say I lost the plot, leapt up whooping and wooing, and with Alison ran as fast as my shoes would take me to the stage.

"Much kissing, photographs and interviews followed and then I had a very large glass of fizzy stuff!

"This the second time we've won this award and it's a great recognition of all the hard work our team, supporters, volunteers and sponsors do to make our festival the success it is, and one with a very big heart.

"Thame Food Festival has put Thame firmly on the tourist map and contributed enormously to local commerce.

"It's something we are all very proud of.

"It was also great to see food producers and sponsors of the festival win their own awards on the night.

"It was a true reflection of all that is great with Oxfordshire businesses."

The festival won the same award in 2013, it received 'bronze' for 'Tourism Event of the Year' in the Beautiful South Awards and was also a finalist in the Tourism Enterprise Category of the Countryside Alliance Awards

This year's food festival takes place on Saturday, September 24,and already lined up is The Great British Bake Off television programme winner Nadiya Hussain, who will demonstrate her culinary skills on the baking stage and sign copies of her new book.

Thame Food Festival was launched in 2008 to promote and celebrate all things food in and around the town.

Lamp starts fire

BICESTER: Curtains left on top of a lamp while renovations were taking place at a Bicester home started a fire.

Firefighters were called to the blaze in Browning Drive on Wednesday last week at 9.05pm. The owner was visiting the bungalow to check on work completed earlier and called the fire service after seeing smoke and smelling burning.

Fire manager Dougie Whitford said the lamp had been on a timer and warned people not to put items on lamps or lights.

Library launch

A FULL week of activities will help to officially launch Bicester's new library.

In April, the library moved from its former home in Old Place Yard to new premises in Franklins House, in Pioneer Square.

The five-storey building Franklins House is also home to a 53-bedroom Travelodge hotel, offices, Cherwell District Council's office and shop and restaurant units.

Since it moved, the library has seen a massive surge in membership with 1,500 people signing up.

From Monday, July 4, the venue will play host to live music performed by local school pupils, talks from authors and experts, special sessions for young children and events for local history buffs.

This includes a launch event at 10.30am on Monday with schoolchildren dressed as book characters followed by a performance by Cooper School Buskers at 12.30pm.

Lorraine Lindsay-Gale, the county council's cabinet member for cultural services, said: "These events are obviously about celebrating the arrival of this fantastic new community building, but they are also about showcasing the sort of partnership work and innovation that's starting to take off at our network of 43 Oxfordshire branch libraries.

"I would urge anyone who has yet to visit the library to come along next week to watch or take part in some of these exciting events."

Music, sport and fun staged to mark Armed Forces Day

HUNDREDS of people across Oxfordshire turned out to show their support for servicemen and women past and present on Armed Forces Day on Sunday.

A music festival was held in Carterton, while a rugby match and performances by former Status Quo drummer John Coughlan and other musicians took place in Witney.

Carterton's event saw activities for children taking place on the recreation ground as well as the main music festival event at the community college.

The day was marked by a fly-past from the RAF Falcons based at RAF Brize Norton.

Topping the bill at the festival were three tribute acts for Blondie, Kasabian and Coldplay, who took to the stage following an afternoon of music from local bands, which included personnel from RAF Brize Norton.

Carterton mayor Lynn Little said: "It was a fantastic day. It was all good fun and lovely that we as a community could have this wonderful day. We will definitely be having another festival next year, now that we know we can hold one here."

"We are very aware that we need to integrate and support each other, and obviously as we have the repatriations in the town now, it is very important."

By Dominic Thomas

Cllr Little, who is a welfare officer for the RAF, said: "I know how important it is that we appreciate and celebrate what do for us. They go off and fight for us, they go away from their families.

"For me, as mayor, it's vitally important that we show our support for them and never ever forget what they do and give thanks."

Meanwhile in Witney, Witney RFC took on an Armed Forces side in an exhibition match, winnng 44–10 and being awarded a cup.

The event was attended by rock star Coughlan, who performed alongside other bands,and comedian Jim Davidson, co-founder of the charity Care for Combat.

Event co-organiser Liam Walker said: "Today has been all about showing our support for our Armed Forces and I think it's safe to say we have done that today. Thanks to the local businesses who supported this event."

Cost of strike

BENSON: A lightning strike on a Benson food waste plant earlier this month has caused £250,000 of damage, according to its management.

The strike ignited gas stored in a waste digester, causing a fire which burned for 20 minutes and destroyed the roof.

No one was injured as fire crews from Oxfordshire, Berkshire and Buckinghamshire and RAF Benson attended the scene on June 16.

Fire crew put response to test in mock palace blaze

FIREFIGHTERS attended Blenheim Palace at Woodstock last week for a mock blaze to test their fire safety plans.

• Fire officers training at Blenheim Palace, Woodstock

Six fire engines and 30 crew turned up to the stately home to take part in a real-time enactment of a serious fire in one of the rooms.

The exercise was used to help fire officers make tactical decisions when tackling fires at heritage buildings.

Considering salvage priorities is a key element of fire plans at sites such as Blenheim Palace in order to protect items of international importance.

Blenheim Palace was built in about 1722 by Sir John Vanbrugh and was designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1987.

The exercise lasted for about two hours and palace staff were on hand to assist firefighters in the procedure.

Mat Carlile, head of operations for Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue Service, said: "These exercises are vital in ensuring that we maintain an effective response to protect buildings and artefacts that are treasured around the world."

'Jihadi Jack' parents to face terror cash trial next year

By George Welch

THE parents of Jack Letts – dubbed "Jihadi Jack" by some newspapers – are set to face trial in January.

Jack Letts, 20, is thought to have become the first white Briton fighting for the so-called Islamic State in Syria last year.

His parents will appear in court on January 9, 2017, accused of funding terrorism in a hearing set to last up to four weeks.

Organic farmer John Letts, 55, and book editor Sally Lane, 54, have been charged with making money available for terrorism purposes.

John Letts and Ms Lane, both of Chilswell Road, Oxford, were charged on June 9 and will appear in court for a plea hearing on November 17.

They spent five days behind bars before Mr Justice Saunders agreed to free them on bail.

They are both accused of three counts of entering into a funding arrangement for terrorism purposes – £223 on September 2 last year, £1,000 on December 31, 2015, and £500 on January 4, 2016.

Ms Lane is facing further charges of attempting to provide money knowing or having reasonable cause to suspect that it may be used for terrorism purposes, contrary to the Terrorism Act 2000.

This includes two alleged payments of £500 to her son on January 4, 2016.

They deny the charges of funding terrorism.

The couple's defence barrister Di Middleton promised they would not attempt to send any more money to their son, and had not done while on police bail

Counter-terrorism police in Britain revealed in January they had been investigating the whereabouts of Jack Letts since March 2015 after he travelled to Syria.

The Muslim convert and former pupil of Cherwell School, Oxford, told his parents he was travelling to Kuwait to study Arabic in September 2014, before secretly travelling to Syria.

He is suspected to now be living in Iraq where he is said to be married and living under a different name.

Palace gardens feature in Disney adaptation of popular children's tale

THE grounds of Blenheim Palace at Woodstock are set to feature on the big screen for Disney's film adaptation of Roald Dahl's children's story The BFG.

The Italian Garden at the stately home served as the location for a scene in The BFG film directed by Steven Spielberg which is due to be released this summer.

Filming at the 18th-century palace lasted two to three days.

Other locations for the film included Bamburgh Castle in Northumberland, Buckingham Palace and the Isle of Skye.

Blenheim Palace has previously featured in many films including most recently the James Bond story Spectre, Mission: Impossible - Rogue Nation and Cinderella.

The BFG film is being launched on July 22 in conjunction with VisitBritain to mark the 100th anniversary of writer Dahl's birth on September 13.

VisitBritain's £350,000 six-week digital and social-media campaign, known as 'Where Giant Dreams come to life', showcases some of the most magical places in Britain, including Big Ben and the Angel of the North.

VisitBritain/VisitEngland chief executive Sally Balcombe said: "Our collaboration with Disney on The BFG is a fantastic opportunity to promote to a global audience of millions an unexpected side of amazing, family-friendly moments that can only be experienced in Britain."

First book published

By Samantha McGregor

LAWRENCE Prestige has been a teacher, worked at Disneyland and picked chewing gum off cinema seats for a job, but his latest role is definitely his favourite.

Children's writer Lawrence has recently published his first book and is part way through a tour of the county's schools.

The 26-year-old began writing as a hobby and in just six-months had penned Rolo, a book for five- to eight-year-olds about a boy called Max who becomes a pirate.

He said a "seed" of an idea for the book came from "dreaming", as well as influence from a television programme called 'Big Foot fact or fiction'.

Lawrence, who lives in North Oxfordshire, said: "The story is about a boy Max who lives with his aunt, uncle and cousin: the Whitfield family. Unfortunately, the Whitfields are not the loving family that Max desperately wants and deserves.

"One night, he decides that the time has come – he has had enough of being bossed around.

"He runs away and heads for the forest, believing that nothing that lives there could ever be as dangerous as the Whitfields."

And it is there that Max meets Rolo, a nine-foot tall mythical creature called a Walpertinger.

They form a friendship and find they must fight together to outwit the Whitfields and stop them taking Max home.

For Lawrence, one of the biggest obstacles he has had to overcome is "sticking to a routine and being disciplined" – so he tries to write for two hours every day.

Lawrence, who studied performing arts and teaching, is in talks with publishers and has already started his second book. But he staying tight-lipped about the plot and would only reveal it is about a sweet shop.

Among his biggest influences are Roald Dahl, JK Rowling and the late actor Robin Williams.

He hopes to use the book to influence children to enjoy reading and writing.

Lawrence said: "Every time I visit a school for example, if I've influenced just one kid to read or pick up a pen and do some creative writing,then I've done my job.

"I think anything that doesn't encourage children to live in a world of fantasy is wrong.

"They can deal with the state the world is in when they are older. If they can't believe in magic now while they should then they'll never find it."

People can buy the book from Amazon, Waterstones or Troubador publishing.

Bookings open

NORTH OXON: Bookings for summer holiday hubs have opened this week to cover childcare for working parents.

Sessions for children aged five to 15 are taking place in Bicester, Banbury and Bloxham, and a smaller number of sessions will be run in Kidlington and Heyford.

The hubs will feature sports, arts, crafts and games, and guest activities including swimming, table tennis, fencing and archery.

For more information, or to book, call 01295 221803.

Bid to improve

BANBURY: Advisors have been appointed to look at creating a Business Improvement District (BID) in Banbury town centre.

The project is being led by Cherwell District Council and comes after an appeal by business leaders. The BID would be run as an independent legal entity by business people, who pool funds and decide how to spend the money to stimulate the high street.

Singing for wellbeing

NORTH OXON: Residents can join Singing for Wellbeing sessions.

Cherwell District Council is supporting the sessions as part of a pilot Social Prescribing Scheme, supported by GPs.

The sessions run from 11am to 12pm every Tuesday until August 2, at Banbury Health & Wellbeing Centre, Stanbridge House, Ruskin Road, Banbury.

Company marks decade

A BICESTER company will celebrate two decades in business in the town this summer.

Homegoods, based in Deans Court, supplies domestic appliances to residents, organisations and businesses.

The family-run store, led by Mark Felton, is planning to expand this year by opening a new showroom which will be dedicated to range cookers and American-style fridge freezers.

Mr Felton spent 20 years working for other appliance retailers before setting up his own shop and warehouse.

He believes one of the keys to his business's success is offering a family service. He also credits his loyal customer base.

Although the Internet had changed people's shopping habits, Mr Felton believed being able to give face-to-face advice and personal service still mattered in business.

He said: "Appliance retailing has changed beyond recognition in the last ten years.

"Everyone now turns to the Internet for the best price and for research.

"However, cleverly written descriptions and headline prices do not always offer the best deal, so at Homegoods we can give personal advice and supply at the best prices with the personal service and human touch."

He said in the past 20 years the quality of appliances had massively improved, but the price had reduced.

Another key to his business's success was his staff, he said, some of whom had been with him for more than 15 years.

SERVING up a mouth-watering cocktail of classic car racing, classic rock music and great family entertainment, the annual Silverstone Classic is fast becoming one of the summer's top festivals... and it's not just for petrolheads!

Last year's three-day extravaganza attracted more than 100,000 visitors and, building on that success, July's event promises to be even bigger and better.

This year's live music line-up is topped by The Boomtown Rats, Reef and The Stranglers with several premier league tribute bands pumping out familiar hits from yesteryear to get the Friday and Saturday night parties rolling.

If anything, the daytime entertainment is even more upbeat, with unrivalled 50-car grids featuring the full spectrum of historic motor sport all competing on the legendary Silverstone Grand Prix Circuit.

Adding to the nostalgia, the infield areas are home to more than 10,000 privately-owned classic road cars hosted by more than 120 motor clubs. The result is acres and acres adorned with epic Ferraris, Aston Martins, Lamborghinis, Maseratis and other equally evocative machinery.

Closing date: Wednesday, July 20

And there's yet more for all ages to see and do. The family entertainment includes a vintage funfair, auction, adrenaline zone, shopping village, live car restoration, a car clinic hosted by TV presenter Mike Brewer, copious high-flying air displays, interactive driving experiences... there really is something for everyone!

What's more, along with the concerts and trackside grandstand seats, the vast majority of these wonderful activities and attractions are included in the admission fee. Adult ticket prices start from £42 and there are special rates for families, camping and weekend tickets. For full details log onto the official www.silverstoneclassic.com website.

DALUCA
Italian Restaurant
A Love Story

AFTER years of experience in Restaurant Management all I wanted was my very own establishment. In December 2014 I was given that chance to make my dream come true and open my very own establishment in Marlow Bottom which is just outside the beautiful and well known Marlow town centre.

I wanted to offer Marlow Bottom a taste of authentic Italian cuisine with the Southern influences of my home region of Calabria Italy. Offering all fresh ingredients chosen by myself from venturing out in the early hours getting the freshest fish from the eccentric and famous London food markets and vegetable stalls but also supporting our local produces. And yes here at Da Lucas we do make our own dough in our kitchens nothing is pre-packaged or pre made at Da Lucas.

Also introduced in Marlow which we will bring to Henley is 'Making your own pizza' So if you are into your own Pizza's we are happy to take on a challenge and let you in our kitchen as a team challenge to make your very own Pizza's with our Chef. You will be making your own dough and tossing it in the air if you pass the Chefs test then choosing your own toppings, this can turn into quite an interesting team challenge or why not bring the children down this is something we have managed at our Marlow Restaurant with the local nursery and I can assure you there was a lot of happy smiling little faces eating their pizzas and wanting to be pizza chefs afterwards!

But after running my Marlow Bottom restaurant for the last year and a half and having achieved so much that I have decided it was time to venture out a little further and come back to my Henley roots where I spent a lot of my management days and to see some old friends and introduce the Southern Italian influence on a place I love and where I love to bring my family and friends.

After opening this Sunday we have had a fabulous and warming response from both new and old customers showing their support!! We are truly hoping that after the success of Sunday this will carry on moving forward and we will warmly welcome you in whether it's just for a classic Italian coffee, or some of our finely selected Italian wines which go perfectly with all the different dishes on the menu. As we are not just a Pasta and Pizzeria restaurant we offer a full range from Vegetarian meals for example our Mushroom or Spinach Risotto, Baked Aubergines cooked with tomato, basil and garlic with Mozzarella and Parmesan Cheese, to our Meat and Fish dishes of Veal and Mussels, Swordfish and Steak and so much more!. However, should you like to take on our challenge our Calzone is not for the faint hearted the sheer size is one to be awed at but cooked to perfection by our very own Neapolitan Chef born and bred into making our pizzas!

At the new Henley restaurant, I wanted to bring a light fresh new start and new atmosphere so we have renovated and redecorated all the way through to bring this beautiful space up to the level it should be, in a classic town such as Henley and to where we have been perfectly located in the Square.

Myself and my all Italian staff will offer the friendliest warmth, cheekiness and aura you will get from the moment you walk in to the time you walk out just as you should expect. It will feel like you are in Italy on holiday so come along and join us with the music playing the buzz from conversations and laughter in the background and some limoncello to finish.

We have also opened up the doors to the rear garden which reminds me of a secret garden overgrown with green vines and the high walls with a small fountain bringing out the timeless romantic ambience Italy brings which is perfect for a summer evening.

WIN tickets to Fairport's Cropredy 2016!

ANYONE attending a village fete in Cropredy in the 70's would have looked at you as if you were insane had you tried to convince them that nearly 40 years later Fairport Convention's contribution to village life was to grow to one of the most loved festivals in the country.

From it's simple musical session over an afternoon the festival has grown to a three day monster that draws 20,000 fans to see up to twenty different bands that cover a wide range of music.

This year's headliners for the 38th festival include

Gryphon the legendary British prog-folk band, on its first visit to Cropredy with an exhilarating mix of old and new material. Hayseed Dixie giving American bluegrass a rocking edge with their hillbilly versions of classic rock songs. and UK legends Madness performing hit after hit from their 35 year career.

Friday will see Steeleye Span make a welcome return to Cropredy, closely followed by the headlining Bootleg Beatles.

Closing date: Friday, July 22

As ever Saturday will start with Richard Digance with the day featuring a wide range of music from artists as diverse as Maia, Gilmore & Roberts and Babylon Circus before Ralph McTell takes the last spot before Fairport Convention and Guests' 2 hour headlining set.

If it was just the music it would be enough but Cropredy also has an amazing relaxed atmosphere that is unequalled at any other UK summer event. This year the festival runs from Thursday the 11th to Saturday 13th of August. For more details and to book tickets visit www.fairportconvention.com

We have a family ticket pack for the weekend for one lucky winner who will get to enjoy three days of good music and real ale. The ticket pack includes a pair of adult weekend tickets, camping ticket and up to three under 12 child tickets.

Second prize is a pair of adult tickets to the Saturday including camping.

All you have to do to be in with a chance of winning one of these amazing prizes is answer this simple question.

Q: Which British prog rock band is making it's Cropredy debut this year?

MONEY MATTERS

Current tax issues: Personal Savings Allowance (PSA)

A new personal savings allowance was introduced from 6 April 2016, which will benefit 95% of taxpayers. Previously interest was taxed at either 20% or 40% depending on whether you were a higher rate taxpayer or not i.e. for every £100 of interest earned either £20 or £40 was paid to HMRC. From April 2016 £1,000 of interest for basic rate taxpayers and £500 of interest for higher rate taxpayers will be tax-free. Additional rate taxpayers (45%) do not get the allowance at all. As individuals with total income of less than £17,000 are entitled to a starting savings rate of £5000 taxable at 0% there is the potential for a total income of £17,000 being tax free (personal allowance £11,000, personal savings allowance £1,000 and £5,000 starting savings rate).

THE MGROUP

The allowance does not just apply to savings. It can be used for interest from a variety of sources e.g. government bonds, gilts, peer to peer lending as well as the more traditional sources such as bank and building society interest.

Any interest earned within an ISA or premium bond winnings does not count as part of the allowance so these will remain tax-free in addition to the PSA.

Income from savings can of course push someone into the higher rate band after all income is totalled and this would mean the PSA is reduced to £500. For 2016-17 the higher rate starts at £43,000.

Taxpayers may wish to consider moving savings around because if they don't earn a lot of interest then a cash ISA may no longer be required and may not pay the best rate of interest.

This allowance does not affect the annual personal allowance and taxpayers will still get that.

For joint accounts any interest will be split and each individual will be entitled to the PSA at their tax rate.

Dividend tax 2016/17

Also from April 2016 there has been a significant change in the way dividends are taxed. The 10% tax credit on dividends has been replaced with a new dividend tax allowance of £5,000 per year. This allowance does not reduce total taxable income and only applies to dividend income. Dividend income in excess of the £5,000 allowance and the personal income tax allowance will be taxed at the following rates:

Basic rate taxpayers: 7.5%

Higher rate: 32.5%

Additional rate: 38.1%.

Dividends paid within pension funds and those received in shares from ISAs remain tax-free.

This allowance is in addition to the Personal Savings Allowance.

No tax will be deducted at source; it will be paid through self-assessment.

The changes mean that incorporation may not be as attractive for small business owners as it may have been in the past and the impact these changes have on any future tax planning will depend on individual circumstances and other sources of income.

It may be beneficial to transfer assets to a spouse who may only have a small income as there is the potential for them to have total income of £17,000 per annum tax-free. This is the £11,000 personal tax allowance plus the £1,000 personal savings allowance plus the £5,000 dividend allowance.

Lifetime ISA

From April 2017 adults under the age of 40 can now save up to £4,000 a year and receive an annual 25% government bonus using a lifetime ISA. Payments into the lifetime ISA can be made until the age of 60. The funds can be used as retirement income or can be withdrawn to purchase the saver's first property.

From April 2017 the total savings an individual can make tax-free each year in an ISA will increase from £15,240 to £20,000. Contributions to a lifetime ISA will count as part of the overall annual ISA allowance limit.

Considerations

Llifetime ISA savings can be taken tax-free as retirement income after the age of 60.

Withdrawals can be made at any time before 60 but are subject to a 5% charge.

Withdrawals before the age of 60 will result in a loss of the annual 25% government bonus (which is up to £1,000).

Savings can be used to purchase your first home up to £450,000.

Savings can be transferred from a Help to Buy ISA to a lifetime ISA, but can only use the bonus from one account.

The above points have been highlighted by Peter Smith, a partner at The MGroup Partnership, an efficient and friendly firm of chartered certified accountants and taxation advisors with offices in Witney and Oxford. Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

"We felt that Dad needed a little more support, that's why we chose Richmond Retirement Villages"

Liz, daughter of a Richmond Villages' resident

Are you in the situation where you know your elderly parent isn't coping at home?

Then a Village Suite at Richmond Witney, who have a new retirement village opening soon in Oxfordshire, could be the solution.

Here residents purchase their own apartments and enjoy a level of support which includes all meals, cleaning, laundry and household chores with the reassurance of personal care available if required.

For more information, please call or visit www.richmond-villages.com/witney

RICHMOND WITNEY

Part of Bupa

Is a care home really the best option for Mum?

So what do you do when you know your elderly parent isn't coping at home? You know they need looking after and a little extra support, but is a care home really necessary and is it the best and only option?

"It's a problem facing many people" says David Westerby, Village Manager at the soon to open Richmond Witney Retirement Village. "Every day family members tell me how fiercely independent their parents are, but the reality is often very different with many ageing parents reliant on a great deal of support from a combination of family, friends, neighbours and public services. The stresses on families can be enormous".

Of course families and friends are there to help as much as they can and generally do their utmost, but often they're not local and have many other important responsibilities and demands on their time. "It's a real conundrum" says David, "and often people are still isolated at home with no real quality of life despite the sterling efforts of their family and friends to sustain them".

So what is the alternative? In the past the only obvious solution has been residential care, but this might seem like an unnecessarily draconian step to take when, with a little extra care and support, an elderly parent can continue to enjoy a more independent lifestyle. The answer could be a Village Suite at award-winning retirement village operator Richmond Villages, who are part of Bupa. People purchase their own apartment and enjoy a level of support which includes all meals, cleaning, laundry and household chores, with personal care on hand 24/7 if required.

"Most people have at least one meal a day with friends in the restaurant or take the option of having meals brought to their apartment." continues David, "Dining with friends is a regular social occasion for most people, but the social aspect is enhanced further by our activities and events team who facilitate everything from bridge clubs to cultural festivals, all designed around the interests and wants of the people living at the Village. We also have our own fleet of vehicles and drivers meaning shopping and other routine journeys, as well as recreational outings, no longer requires ordering a taxi or relying on family or friends if you don't drive anymore."

Graham Wood, whose mother has been living in a Village Suite at a Richmond Village for five years, said "Mum's previous home had just become too much work for her. She wasn't coping well and it was all getting her down. Now she has her own beautiful apartment, a great social life and excellent facilities all on her doorstep. Not only has it been the perfect move for Mum, but knowing that support and help from Richmond Villages is there 24 hours a day is very reassuring for me and my family."

Rip-roaring show by band has audience on feet

FOLLOWING a near 10-year hiatus, multi-million selling Irish four-piece band The Corrs returned to our radios last year with White Light, a scorching album of catchy, Celtic-inflected pop that reinstated the group to the upper echelons of the world's pop charts.

By Jonathan Barnes

For this show at the Nocturne concert series, which made a welcome return to the wondrous grounds of Blenheim Palace at Woodstock this month, siblings Andrea, Sharon, Caroline and Jim delighted the 5,000-strong audience with a selection of hits from their back catalogue.

The two-hour concert kicked off with drummer Caroline pounding her way through an introductory drum solo, arguably more reminiscent of a Led Zeppelin concert than the folk pop we've come to expect from the award-winning quartet.

But it got the crowd on their feet and served as a fitting start to what was a rip-roaring run through of the band's best-known hits including 'Dreams', 'What Can I Do', 'I Never Loved You Anyway' and 'So Young' from 1998's Talk On Corners, the UK's highest selling album of the year, as well as 'Give Me A Reason', 'Radio' and 'Breathless' from its follow-up 'In Blue'.

Although the crowd revelled in singing along to these hits, what perhaps achieved the most positive reaction of the evening was a stripped down acoustic interlude when the quartet moved to the front of the stage and performed a selection of traditional Irish folk songs.

Andrea displayed her talents on tin whistle, Jim switched from guitars to keyboards and Caroline sat on and drummed a crate that boomed out sounds reminiscent of a brass band bass drum.

The excitement of the crowd during this segment was palpable and one could not help but feel that this was the band at their most comfortable; performing the music of their homeland as a close, tight-knit unit.

A combination of divine harmonies, stellar musicianship and a seemingly endless list of hit songs from which to draw on, all performed against the beautiful backdrop of the World Heritage-listed Blenheim Palace, made this concert an overwhelming success and a sure sign that the Nocturne series is here to stay.

TV dancers step out for The Last Tango

AFTER performing in front of millions of television viewers every weekend, dancers Vincent Simone and Flavia Cacace thought a different direction was needed for their careers.

By James Richings

For six years, Vincent and Flavia were paired with celebrities from across the showbiz world bidding to win one of Britain's most high-profile dancing competitions, 'Strictly Coming Dancing'.

But the two decided to call it a day from the show in 2012 to focus on their stage show, 'The Last Tango', which comes to the New Theatre, Oxford, from Thursday to Saturday, July 7 to 9.

"I have worked with Vincent for 21 years, so this really helps with the show and I'm very happy to be returning to Oxford," 36-year-old Flavia told the Guardian.

"I have performed there many times before and I love coming here as it's a great place to visit, so you can tell that I am very excited to be going there in July."

Starring Vincent and Flavia, 'The Last Tango' focuses on the relationship between fictional characters George and Sally from when they first meet to the final stages of their lives.

The show portrays the struggles the two go through in a number of different dances. Such is the emotion of the piece that Flavia expects some of the audience members to leave the George Street theatre in tears

The dancer believes 'The Last Tango' ranks as one the best pieces of work she has taken part in, alongside winning 'Strictly Come Dancing' four years ago with her partner, gymnast Louis Smith.

"When Vincent and I were doing Strictly, we wanted to try something different and that was the creation of 'The Last Tango'," she said.

"We knew it would take a lot of hard work, time, sacrifices and dedication but we are very happy with the way the show has come out. And it was amazing to win Strictly in 2012 as it was the year of the Olympics.

"The journey was a long ride which was very demanding but it was very rewarding. Over the last seven years, I had improved greatly."

The show is on a 33-week tour across the UK, which started in September last year.

Four shows will take place over the three days with tickets costing from £19.50 to £63.90.

Dog let off the leash for gig at Banbury pub

SIX-PIECE band Ferocious Dog will be unleashing their musical style when they visit The Wheatsheaf in Banbury on Friday, July 1.

Fronted by singer Ken Bonsall, they will be treating regulars at the George Street venue to numbers from their second album, 'From Without', along with tracks off their previous self-titled first album.

And with the band already preparing for a third record, which is due to be released next April, Ken hopes the crowd will appreciate their new tracks.

"You can expect to see and hear high-energy music which is well crafted and thought provoking but overall, you'll have a night to remember," he said.

"The audience are on the same level as they know what's coming.

"They share and feel the passion.

"It doesn't get any better than that."

The band was formed when Dan, Ken's son, started to play the violin in primary school, which gave Ken a brainwave – form a band and play music he has an interest in.

"I was really into bands like The Pogues, The Levellers and New Model Army, who just happened to play violins," Ken said.

"Dan picked up on this and played them effortlessly and since I knew all the Irish folk songs from my childhood, I just had to learn to play the guitar. Thirty years on and I'm still trying to learn it!"

After their gig tomorrow night, the group travels to Norfolk to perform at the Folk in a Field Festival.

Tickets at the George Steet venue cost £13.75 and the gig starts at 7pm. It is suitable for over-18s.

Folk duo play church gig

SOFT folk tunes with a Sixties and Seventies twist will be echo around Marston St Lawrence Church when Josienne Clarke and Ben Walker perform in concert.

By James Richings

The duo, who have won four awards since 2012, hope they can gain some more fans when they visit the church in the village between Banbury and Brackley on Saturday, June 2.

Josienne told the Guardian: "When we perform, I love the applause we get. I say that because not many people get a round of applause every time they complete a spreadsheet in the office!

"Also, when I first started to get into music, I was told to just make the music you love and the audience will find you."

Josienne burst on to the music scene in 2010 following the release of her debut album, 'One Light is Gone', which was an underground hit with a number of folk fans.

However, the musician still felt there was room for improvement.

A year later, she was introduced to guitarist Ben Walker and has never looked back since.

The duo have released five albums and a Christmas record to date, but Josienne revealed a sixth album had just finished being recorded and was for release in October.

Among their accolades, Josienne and Ben won a BBC Radio 2 Folk Award for Best Duo last year.

"Ben was playing in an indie rock band when I met him," Josienne said. "A mutual friend of ours let him have a go on his vintage acoustic guitar and on hearing Ben play he said "what are you doing wasting your time in this indie band when you can play acoustic guitar like that!

"I was gigging and looking for a permanent guitarist to replace my limited guitar skills and it's been thus ever since."

She added: "Personally for me, I tend to favour the really special gigs more than the awards.

"Playing our album launch at the Purcell Rooms at the Southbank Centre or performing at the National Theatre or on the big stage at Cambridge Folk Festival are more highlights for me."

Their concert starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £15.

Covers band gig

LIVE MUSIC: Rock and pop covers band Stikki Beatz will be performing at The Black Swan in Abingdon on Saturday, July 2.

The five-piece group, who only formed a year ago, visits the Bath Street venue to perform tunes from the 1960s to the 1980s.

Story of abuse

FILM: The 2015 film, 'Spotlight', will be screened at The Mill Arts Centre in Banbury from Tuesday, July 5, to Tuesday, July 19.

The film, which stars Mark Ruffalo, Michael Keaton, Rachel McAdams and Stanley Tucci, focuses on the true story of six investigative journalists who discover that a number of Catholic priests have sexually abused children in Boston.

Suitable for over-15s, tickets cost £6 for £4 for over-60s.

Comedian's visit

COMEDY: Comedian Andrew Lawrence will be returning to Oxfordshire on Thursday, July 7, at 8.15pm.

The funny man, who visited Didcot's Cornerstone Arts Centre last spring, arrives at the Glee Club on Hythe Bridge Street with his 'Uncensored' tour. Suitable for over-16s, tickets for the show cost £13.

THROUGH A THICKET OF MADE-UP DIVISIONS
One constant is that society is always in flux. When 'global' becomes 'local' it can be difficult to keep a sense of self. Rapid social and technological changes destabilise our sense of place and produce ambiguous identities. OP Young Companies explore these issues and ask: how can we work out who we are? Where are we going? And is that a place we want to be?

SAVE THE LAST DANCE FOR ME
From the team that brought you the huge success that is Dreamboats and Petticoats, Save the Last Dance for Me will take you back through the 'music and magic' of the early 60's, a time when each passing week brought another Rock 'n' Roll classic.
Written by two of TV's most talented writers Laurence Marks and Maurice Gran (Birds of a Feather, Good Night Sweetheart, The New Statesman and many more) and featuring the hits of Elvis's favourite writers, Doc Pomus and Mort Shuman, this nostalgic, feel-good journey will transport you back to music's golden era as we follow two teenage sisters through the summer of '63.
For the first time without their parents - the sisters embark on a holiday to the seaside. Full of freedom and high spirits they meet a handsome young American who invites them to a dance at the local U.S. Air force base. But young love and holiday romance is never as simple as it sounds, and the sisters soon realise that while the world around them is still watching itself in black and white, life and love can be much more colourful.

TWO GENTLEMEN OF VERONA
One of Oxford's most spectacular summer highlights, Oxford Playhouse and the Bodleian Library are delighted to welcome back Globe Theatre On Tour. Get your summer soaring by seeing one of Shakespeare's most charming comedies in the unique outdoor setting of the Old Schools Quadrangle.
Valentine loves Silvia and Proteus loves Julia – but Proteus is fickle, and falls for Silvia too. Join a joyful ensemble of players as they bounce between elopements, betrayals and forest-dwelling outlaws - plus a bit with a dog. Along the way, they play out-Shakespeare's immortal themes of deceit, love and friendship.
This riotous new production will delight with songs, romance and chaos, hurlingShakespeare's anarchic comedy into the 21st century. The perfect play for summer!

Peugeot Tepee is put to the test

IF you look at the Peugeot Tepee for more than a few seconds, you will automatically think 'is that a van?'

I would have to agree that it does look kind of van-ish, but I can assure you that the Peugeot Tepee is a wolf in sheep's clothing.

The design brief for the Tepee would I imagine have been simple for Peugeot; 'family or leisure use with the ability to carry a large amount of gear and the kitchen sink with a capacity of up to seven seats with as many storage holes as humanly possible'.

I have never seen so many secret compartments in a car – it's like sitting inside James Bond's duffle bag.

POWER AND EFFICIENCY:

The Tepee I have on test is powered by a 100hp 1.6 litre diesel engine that performs well and is one of Peugeot's best engines and will happily return 68mpg (combined). Top speed is of no concern here, because the Tepee was designed to be a family and adventure friendly.

By Anthony Yates

Torque figures are more relevant because of the nature of what the Tepee will be doing and carrying. That 1.6 HDi diesel engine produces 254Nm which is great for all those green fields you will be hitting while out on your adventures.

ON THE ROAD:

The Tepee provides a decent ride and is actually very comfortable and well thought out. The suspension also felt good with no sign of a harsh ride, even when fully loaded. I enjoyed driving the family around in it all week because it fitted in nicely with all we have to do as a busy family unit.

DESIGN:

This is the Tepee's party piece. There is overhead storage above the passenger and drivers' heads, front door storage pockets which can hold bottles of up to 1.5 litres, drawers under the front seats, space in the floor for rear passengers, plus many litres of storage in the centre console and 675 litres of boot space which can then be increased by up to 2,650 litres using the modularity of the folding rear bench seat (row 2 seats fully folded). Go for the Active Blue HDi 100 S&S version and you can even opt for seven seats.

TECHNOLOGY:

Driver and front passenger airbags, cruise control with speed limiter, touchscreen with digital radio, automatic lights on, rain sensing wipers and LED daytime running lights are just a small amount of kit you get.

TO SUM UP:

Price (from) £19,030 MRRP (as tested).

Williams look forward to Austrian Grand Prix

By George Welch

AFTER achieving their first podium finish of the season in Canada two races ago, Williams are keen to get out on to the track in Austria for the ninth round of the Championships.

Ahead of the weekend off last week, Valtteri Bottas registered a sixth place finish in Baku, Azerbaijan, while Felipe Massa finished 10th, the last scoring berth.

The result of the European Grand Prix leaves Bottas seventh in the constructors championship on 52 points, just two points behind Red Bull's Max Verstappen.

Massa's solitary point keeps the 35-year-old in ninth place as his search for a podium finish continues.

The Red Bull Ring, which hosted the first grand prix under its new guise in 2014, was a memorable one for Williams, with Bottas claiming his first ever Formula One podium by finishing third.

Massa won a podium finish in Austria last year.

The Brazilian claimed a third place finish just behind the Mercedes duo of Nico Rosberg and Lewis Hamilton.

Ahead of the Austrian grand prix, Bottas said: "Austria is where I got my first podium in Formula One, so it's always nice to go back.

"The track itself is always fun to drive. It has a nice flow to it with some big elevation changes and plenty of high-speed corners."

Massa said: "Austria is a very small but nice track to drive. I've had some great races there over the previous two years.

"Last year I was on the podium in third. The year before, we had a pole position and second on the grid. Valtteri finished on the podium and I finished fourth.

"That shows it's a good track for our car and we are normally very competitive. I hope we have another year like that."

Massa is in his third season at Grove-based Williams, after moving from Ferrari in 2014.

There is speculation of Williams signing Jenson Button for 2017, which could spell the end of Massa's tenure at the team.

Team keen for European section

HAAS' Team Principal Gunther Steiner says he is looking forward to the European stretch of the F1 season, which starts next week at the Red Bull Ring in Austria this weekend.

Steiner, who is principal of the American team who have their European base in Banbury, said: "I've got many home races in my life. I have one in Austria, one in Italy, which is Monza, and one in the United States.

"Red Bull Ring is relatively close to where I come from and is only about a five-hour drive from my hometown."

He said the team were getting on with preparations for the race, as the team continue to learn their trade in their first F1 season: "We will have to figure out on Friday how to set our car up best for us to have the best lap time, whether it's taking downforce off to go fast on the straights or putting downforce on to go very fast around the corners."

Driver Romain Grojean, who lies in 11th on the drivers championship, ahead of his teammate Gutierrez in 18th, said: "It's good to be able to come to the European races. You can arrive at the track on Thursday morning and be home by dinnertime on Sunday."

Renault pair raring for Red Bull Ring

RENAULT drivers Kevin Magnussen and Jolyon Palmer say they are looking forward to getting back on track at the Austrian Grand Prix this weekend.

The pair started at the back of the grid in Azerbaijan last time out after qualifying in 21st and 22nd with Magnussen starting from the pit lane after his car was modified post-qualifying.

They made up places to finish 14 and 15th respectively but nevertheless once again finished well outside of the points.

Magnussen said: "We learned a lot in Baku.

"We tried a variety of set-ups and did make progress in our understanding of the car."

The Dane, who has so far claimed the team's only points of the season in the Russian Grand Prix earlier this year, added: "I'm headed there in a very positive frame of mind and I can't wait to get out in action."

He said that the Red Bull Ring track is one that favours him: "I'm particularly looking forward to it.

"Austria is more my type of country, with the fresh air and mountains.

"It's small, but it's high speed. It has a really nice flow and there are good opportunities for overtaking – like into turn two. I like it."

Meanwhile his teammate Jolyon Palmer was similarly optimistic despite their unfavourable recent results.

He said: "I feel very positive about the overall Baku weekend, even though I don't have a lot to show for it! The yellow flags in qualifying cost us a lot and then I made some mistakes in the race.

"But on the whole the car was OK and we are making progress."

The Brit added: "Unfortunately we were not that competitive in Baku but we should be more on it in Austria, which is a faster circuit and should suit our car a lot better."

Despite their lack of points so far Magnussen is not discouraged as the team reach the mid point of their season.

He said: "Obviously, we all want stronger results but we all knew this would be a tough season where we'd have to dig deep and work hard. Ultimately we're here for the long term."

Forward departs

FOOTBALL: Former Oxford United forward Pat Hoban has signed for Mansfeild Town after been released by the club.

The 24-year-old who signed from Ireland's Dundalk in November 2014, scored just six goals in his 53 appearances for the Us.

He also had two loan spells to Stevenage and Grimsby Town, where he also struggled to find the net, failing to score in a combined total of 13 games.

Bristol's superior first half showing thwart U's efforts

Winning streak halted

FOUR first half goals from Bristol City's strikers brought Oxford United women's three match winning streak to an end with a 4–1 loss on Saturday.

Another goal for top scorer Ini Umotong, who is now on six goals from eight games of the season, was the U's only consolation during the match.

By Dominic Thomas

United started with two changes from their last match, which included a debut for new signing Laura Rafferty.

She joined U's defence on loan from Chelsea earlier in the week along with teammate Jenna Legg.

The U's were drawing level 1 – 1 after Umotong's goal midway through the first half, before a brace from Bristol's Claire Emsile and a goal from Millie Farrow opened the flood gates before half-time.

The hosts took the lead in the 18th minute when Loren Dykes fired a dangerous ball across goal for Farrow to tap in, which was followed in quick succession by more quickfire attempts by City to double their lead.

Bristol City Ladies 4
Oxford United WFC 1

However, United then scored against the run of play when Holly Pickett saw a deft 25-yard lob come off the bar, for Umotong to head home the rebound.

Parity was only restored for three minutes before Emsile curled a shot into the far corner of the net from close range.

She then got her second three minutes before half time again shooting across goal, this time from the edge of the box.

Just moments later, Farrow added her second when she burst free, and buried a rebound after the keeper saved her first shot.

In the second half the lively Georgia Timms, on her second start of the season, had several attempts on goal after racing free on the left.

United may have mounted a comeback when Umotong was awarded a free kick on the edge of the area after 60 minutes, but she was unable to get her shot on target, much to the striker's frustration.

She then looked certain to score when she worked herself free on the left, but failed to trouble keeper Caitlin Leech with her effort.

Vixens' keeper Leech put in an impressive display to deny Timms and Umotong again, as well as substitute Mollie Dyer later in the half as they desperately looked for a way back into the match.

The defeat ended a positive run of three straight wins for the U's, who will now look to get back to winning ways at home to Yeovil on Thursday evening.

Rain jilts racing and causes Smith a crash on the corner in Dutch outing

BRADLEY Smith finished 13th at the Dutch Grand Prix to pick up points for his Yamaha team, despite dangerous weather conditions and crashing.

The 25-year-old climbed to an impressive seventh once the race resumed after heavy rain caused a temporary break to proceedings on Sunday in Assen.

But his luck ran dry on the following lap as he fell at the 15th corner.

Smith said: "It was an eventful day and with the challenging conditions, it was tricky for everyone to not make any mistakes.

"We started with the harder option rear tyre, which was the first time that we tried it all weekend and it took me a long time to get a general feeling.

"We had a lot of rain and to be honest, it would have be nice to stop a few laps earlier because it was quite unsafe.

"Unfortunately, like many other riders, I fell because I lost the front as it was pushed too much by the extra grip from the rear.

"Even though it's another disappointing weekend, it was nice to finish and get some points because the team has worked really hard."

Yamaha team manager Hervé Poncharal said: "Unfortunately Bradley, like many other riders, crashed but he bravely recovered and managed to finish.

"We will be back on track soon and if we can complete the first half of the season one step higher in Germany, it would be the perfect way to head into the summer break."

More Oxford names set for Rio Olympics

By Dominic Thomas

OXFORD'S former world silver medallist at 1500m Hannah England faces an anxious wait for a decision on her selection for the Rio Olympics after finishing fifth in the British Athletics championships in Birmingham on Sunday.

The former world silver medallist has had a tough few years, having suffered an Achilles injury and then illness, and was dropped from lottery funding in November.

She finished down the field in fifth on Sunday and has yet to meet the qualification standard of 04:07.00 with a current season's best of 04:09.98 recorded at Hengelo, Holland, in May.

Meanwhile there was better news for Watlington's 110m hurdler Lawrence Clarke, who finished second to winner Andrew Pozzi in a time of 13.44 into a 1.3m/h headwind, to dip under the qualifying standard and book his place on the plane to Rio.

The 26-year-old, who placed fourth in London's 2012 games four years ago, tweeted: "I'm going to the Olympics!!" after his performance on Sunday night.

He is now set to compete at the European Athletics Championships in Amsterdam from July 6, where Oxford City athlete Nathan Douglas will get a late chance to stake his claim for Olympic qualification, if he can jump the qualification standard of 16.85m in the triple jump, having already become British champion on Sunday.

And finally, four time Olympian and reigning Olympic champion Katherine Grainger has finally been selected to represent Team GB's rowers in the double sculls, having missed out on selection in the women's eights just three weeks ago.

The 40-year-old along with sculls partner Vicky Thronley, 28, will travel to her fifth Olympic games after finishing fifth in the World Cup in Poznan last weekend, in their first outing since their failed attempt to make the eights boat.

While there was shock over her exclusion from the 43-member squad named on June 9, there remained an outside chance of her competing at a fifth Olympics, if their double sculls partnership was reformed.

Grainger will now look for her fifth consecutive medal in Rio, having won three silvers and finally a gold in London.

Tribute match

CRICKET: Moreton Cricket Club near Didcot is to host a special tribute match in memory of a 103-year-old member who passed away earlier this year.

The tribute match for Eric Tappin, who lived in Didcot for many years, will take place on Thursday, July 14, at 6pm.

A mixed match of Moreton men, juniors and ladies is planned to take place in what is known as the Tappin Cup match.

Some of Mr Tappin's surviving family are due to attend.

Mr Tappin presented the cup to the club around 40 years ago.

He had been involved with the club since 1950, first as a player, then as a groundsman, umpire and vice president.

Revised fixtures

FOOTBALL: Oxford United have had five fixtures rescheduled ahead of the 2016/17 campaign.

The first away game of the season at Bristol Rovers has been put back 24 hours to Sunday, August 14, due to Rovers' involvement in a televised cup game.

Consequently, the game away at Fleetwood has also been moved back by 24 hours to Wednesday, August 17.

Millwall at home on October 29 will is now 1pm rather than 3pm.

Swindon Town away has been moved back a day to Sunday, February 5, and will now kick off at midday.

Bradford City away will now take place on Good Friday, April 14, with a 3pm kick off.

Stars name stand after on-ice hero

OXFORD City Stars and Oxford Ice Rink have named a stand after club hero Scott Gough.

The first stand on the left of entrance to the Oxpens ice rink is now called 'The Scott Gough Stand' after Stars fans voted for their number one hero on the ice since the team's inception in 1984.

Scott Gough was just 18 years old when he joined the Oxford City Stars in January 1986 having signed from Glasgow Dynamos.

Gough played 222 games for Oxford, amassing 319 goals and 270 assists.

He currently turns out for the Swindon Panthers, one of the top recreational hockey teams in the country.

Stars director James Schall said: "I remember the day Scott signed for Oxford and watching him play his first game, as a player myself I spent a lot of time on the ice through the years with Gougher, usually unable to catch him.

"I'm really pleased for Scott that the fans have selected him as our all-time hero, he's a top man with a top personality and I think that's why the fans have voted in their droves".

Gough was the overwhelming winner and Dan Prachar and Trevor Joseph rounded off the top three.

Oxford City Stars have also announced the re-signing of forward Mike Whillock for a third season.

Whillock, 23, scored 11 goals in 26 games last season.

Deta strikes twice for Six Nations Cup victories

OXFORDSHIRE'S Deta Hedman led England ladies to victory in the annual Six Nations Cup darts event last weekend.

The tournament pits teams from England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, Northern Ireland and the Netherlands against each other and was held in Sligo this year.

England won their two group matches 9-0 against Northern Ireland and 7-2 against Netherlands to progress to the semi finals, where they met hosts the Republic of Ireland.

Deta hit the winning double to win 5-0.

Wales beat the Netherlands in other semi final with a convincing 5-2 win. But England ladies' were far too strong and stormed to another 5-0 win in the finals versus Wales to claim the title, with the help of Deta who pulled off a fantastic 161 check out.

Their victory came after Deta claimed the inaugural Six Nations singles title earlier in the day, beating first round opponent Aileen de Graaf 4-1, then storming back from 3-0 down to beat Rhian Griffiths 4-3.

She overcame Sharon Prins 4-2 and beat England teammate Lisa Ashton 5-3 in a high class final in which both recorded averages over 90.

The ladies victories came after Deta reached the milstone of 100 ranking titles the previous weekend.

• Eddie Pepperell in action

EDDIE Pepperell missed his third successive halfway cut on the European Tour when he shot a three-over par 75 in the BMW International Open in Germany, last week.

The Abingdon golfer fired six birdies in his second round, but he was made to pay for mistakes with a triple-bogey, double-bogey and four bogeys.

The triple-bogey seven came at the ninth – his final hole – when he was in contention to make the cut during the competition from June 23 to 26.

Sweden's Henrik Stenson topped the leader board with a score of -17 over the four days, three shots clear of the chasing pack, to win the $2m prize money.

Scoring a first day level par of 72, Pepperell fired 75 on day two to finish on 147 with the cut coming at 143.

Pepperell's highest finish this year is tied eighth in Dubai back in May.

But the 25-year-old has now failed to make it to the final day of a tournament in half of his competitive outings in 2016.

He now heads to Paris for the 100th Open de France running from today, June 30, until Sunday, July 3, where he will come up against Rory McIlroy, Martin Kaymer and 2016 Masters champion Danny Willett.

OXFORD United's preparations for the coming season have been given a boost after announcing four new signings in a week.

Head coach Michael Appleton, who recently had to reassure fans that new additions would be made following a lack of transfer activity, has bolstered his squad with a goalkeeper, two defenders and a striker.

Striker Wes Thomas, 29, and defenders Christian Ribeiro, 26, and Aaron Martin, 26, have all signed two year deals at the club while goalkeeper Simon Eastwood, 27, has agreed to a one year contract.

All four clubs join the U's on free transfers following their release from Birmingham City, Exeter City, Coventry City and Blackburn Rovers respectively.

Ribeiro played 39 times for Exeter City last season, scoring four times. He was part of the Scunthorpe side that won promotion from League 2 and has made close to 200 career appearances.

Ribeiro also has two full caps for Wales.

Martin, who played 17 times in Southampton's Championship winning campaign in 2011/12, told the club: "I've seen the way Oxford play and I think the club could have a very good chance in League One.

"Everyone has seen how well the club's done and I think that's testament to what the gaffer's done and the football he's got them playing and the belief around the club – we just need to use that momentum to go again."

Ex-Bournemouth striker Thomas worked under U's manager Appleton in spells at Blackpool and Portsmouth, while 'keeper Eastwood, who was Oxford's backup stopper in the 2010/11 season, also spent time with Appleton at Portsmouth.

Having coached Thomas before, Appleton said: "When Wes became available on a free contract it was a no-brainer for me if I could get it done because I know what he's about and how he works and what his character is.

"He's played at this level and in the Championship – he'll be a real threat."

With Eastwood returning for his second stint at the club, fellow 'keepers Sam Slocombe and Max Crocombe have been told they can leave the Kassam Stadium.

The pair have 12 months on their contracts and the club currently has five senior goalkeepers.
